

Axians

Axians is the VINCI Energies brand dedicated to information and communications technology (ICT). The brand supports its customers – enterprises, the public sector, carriers and service providers – from IT infrastructure and services to digital transformation.

DISCOVER AXIANS

Go to the website

Axians is an international brand specialized within ICT – Information and Communication Technology.

Working and living in a world that is always online and faced with an ever expanding volume of data to collect, carry and transfer – communications infrastructures and IT resources have to be constantly adapted. With a team of over 400 IT and Telecom professionals in the Nordics and an international network of over with 8000 employees in 15 countries, Axians supports organizations with smart ICT-solutions in the forefront of technology. Whether it is a private-sector firm, operator, service provider or public-sector entity. Axians will help to support the digital transformation of your organization.

Its extensive geographic footprint and in-depth industry expertise translates into a thorough understanding of our customers’ business needs and goals. Axians’ consulting, design, integration and service teams supports you and develop bespoke products and services that transform technology into value-added business solutions.

Axians customers are organizations that have the highest demands in customer service, in-depth expertise, availability and ICT that works 24/7 – weather the solutions is hosted on-premises, in Axians own datacenters, in the public cloud or in a hybrid solution. With three own datacenters, an infrastructure in forefront of technology and the worlds’ largest cloud supplier as partner – Axians have started a journey of becoming the leading hybrid ICT solutions supplier in the Nordics.

Learn more

Our business lines

VINCI Energies Nordic

Locations

USEFUL LINKS

FOLLOW US

