With more than 40 years in the industry, INAC Process are an important player within instrument and process assembly. We are an independent system/instrumentation provider and have good knowledge of all the leading products from global instrument providers. We operate in an international segment and deliver solutions across a wide range of services, from project management and project implementation to delivery of equipment, assembly and service.

Our installers and technicians have good competence in installing measuring instruments in processes, field equipment, cross coupling, pneumatics, frail and protection pipes and field buses. We also provide services such as choice of materials, cabinet making, fibre contacting, hot melt, glue, welding and crimping as well as associated tests, common dB measurement and OTDR.
